VALUE OF A COLLEGE EDUCATION

The time has come when just secondary education will not suffice when one is looking for a good job! By a good job, I mean one that pays well, is helpful to others and also to yourself. So ditch-digging is definitely out!

What does one do to get a job such as I'm talking about? Usually a college education will help considerably. Although college may seem far off for some, the old expression "Where there's a will, there's a way" applies.

In the world today there are not enough people with college educations and that is why we see the critical shortage in teachers, doctors and other jobs which require a definite technical training.

In previous years, this training was not needed to get the so-called white collar jobs. Now, just look around you and see how far a person can go without an education. It isn't very far, is it?

Some people might argue that experience is better than an education and they can be earning while learning. That certainly is not true in the long run! For example, if a girl leaves high school, takes a job in a local chain store, on the pretext of the above—yes, she is earning money but probably she'll keep that same job and earn nearly the same salary as long as she continues to work. Doesn't that prove my point?

So, think twice before quitting school or not furthering education after high school. It is very important to us, the young people, to take advantage of the opportunities we have in this day and age, for getting an education. If we don't we'll be the ones that will suffer for it.

By going to college, getting the education we need, then we can help others, as well as ourselves, which is one of the most important things in the world today.

THE HUNT

None of us knew what to do with the poor, homeless little half-atom. It was absolutely worthless to us. It had been split at Oakridge and the better half went on to Bikini. We were honored with the other half, and we couldn't find a soul to give it a home. We didn't want it around! That was a certainty; because, what would happen to us if the sorrowful little atom-let grew impatient, or suddenly woke up to the fact that it had world-shaking power? No one even wanted to think of it. We canvassed all the orphanages looking for some refugee from the bustling world who would adopt this woe-begone particle of Uranium; preferably a psychiatrist who could work on it. I mean that atom was actually a split personality! No wonder they get so mad when people cut 'em up and put them in bombs. We offered it for sale—a real bargain we said. No sale. We extended it as a mascot to the governor, the senator, the President (the farther away the better). We received a courteously worded reply from the former inviting our attention to "Pleasant Side Farm, Milton." We hopefully tried this. It proved to be a rest-home, so that was the last time that we mentioned the plight of the orphan atom in the open. People simply didn't understand. We then gave up; bought a little box and some special food. Now we charge one penny admission to the neighborhood and two pennies for outsiders to gaze upon the adopted atom.

THE STORY OF MY LIFE

When I was born, something terrible happened; I lived. My birth took place on the other side of the tracks. Unlike most people, I was born at home. My arrival caused severe disturbances in our family and neighborhood. Father sued the doctor, mother screeched when she first saw me, and three families across the street moved out of town, all on account of me.

As I grew older, I grew more handsome. One day, my aunt, on my father's side—no, wait, I remember distinctly that she stood beside my mother—exclaimed while gazing at me in my cast iron crib, "Yes, indeedy, he's got his father's hair (I'd always wondered where it went; now I knew), and his mother's nose and moustache, and oh, oh, Grandma, you leaned too far over his crib; now he's got your teeth."

At the age of three I ran away from home and tried to join the army. I didn't make it, however. I was overweight. When I was four and a half, my mother and father ran away from home. Mother jumped off the wharf and joined the Waves, while Father joined the Navy. They both came home when I was five years old.

When I was eight, my mother decided to send me to school. I arrived at recess with my geometry book and was placed in the first grade. I had a good time in school. The teacher was a beautiful blonde, fresh from college, and I was a first grader, fresh from — no, just fresh.

I grew older, as most people do, and my school troubles increased. My teacher wouldn't let me bring my electric razor to class, even if I was the oldest kid in the third grade.

Yes, I was always in trouble. At our school Christmas party, the teacher gave me a Stetson dunce cap.

However, I had my good points. Of course, I put some of them in the teacher's chair, but I was not always bad. I was a born actor. I played the part of Abraham Lincoln in the school play presented by the fourth grade. I was a natural for the part, because I was the only kid in the class who had a beard. Well, Susan Peters had a moustache, but she was absent that day.

Finally, I graduated from the eighth grade. I passed my last test very quickly. The principal put the test on his desk, and I ran by it. Then he told me to get out.

I had a good record for my school years. I had played in all the games—I liked ice hookey best. I had been absent only once, during the third grade, but I had to see the draft board or — well, you know what would have happened if I hadn't, and I graduated without any demerits. Good thing the principal left his cigar on the demerit book.

I didn't go to high school. I wasn't going to let any teachers who were younger than I boss me around, so I looked around for a job. Father wanted me to be an artist, but I read somewhere that an artist is a fellow who sits in his studio and draws. It might be all right in the summer, but I'd want some breeches over them in the winter. Mother wanted me to be President, but I figured that I didn't want to wait 'til Roosevelt got out before I was nominated. I'd be an old man by then. Well, I'd always wanted to be a fireman. My teacher said I'd make a good one. She claimed that if I didn't change my ways, I'd be thrown into the "Lake of fire." "Guess I don't have to worry," I said, "I'll build myself an asbestos rowboat."

Well, that summer I got a job in the local bakery as a blacksmith. I shooed the flies.

Then one day I met a girl. She had everything a man could ask for. Moustache, sideburns, bald head and all. We were married on Christmas Eve. She was a wonderful wife. When I was deathly sick with double pneumonia, she watched tenderly over my insurance policy. She cooked my meals faithfully twice a week. I went to the doctor faithfully twice a week.

One day a fellow said that I ought to go on the radio. I tried it, but it was kind of cramped on that portable Zenith, so I got down.

Then in the third year of our married life, a calamity hit our family. My wife got in the way of a trailer truck. You should have seen her in the hospital. She dwindled down to 304 pounds. You should have seen the trailer truck. The cab's in the trailer now. My wife stayed in a com(m)a for a short period of time, then cashed in her ticket. I imagine Sain Pete had to open the double doors when she rolled up to the gate.

When my grief caused by her death was over, and her insurance money spent, I resigned my job as blacksmith and became a salesman for the Rubthefatoff Reducing Company. One of the ladies on my route who took the course told me confidentially, "Oh it worked wonders for me. And my sister, she tried your reducing course, and went from 369 pounds to 105 pounds, bones, casket, brass handles and all."

The following year I went out West, and got a job as a screen writer, and soon my first story was printed as a novel, and later used as a movie. The book, "Murder in the Garden," or "How to Take the Head off a Cabbage in Six Easy Lessons," brought me enough money to move into better quarters. To my new home in Beverly Hills I brought a bride. For forty-one years we lived happily in that house, then she passed away—cancer of the big toe killed her—and I resigned my job.

I returned to my home-town, where at the present time I enjoy a job with five thousand people under me. I'm the night watchman in the local cemetery.

A MYSTERY

The night was cold and dreary. A heavy mist was falling and the street lights glared on the cold wet pavement of the street. The sidewalks were cluttered with old paper and rubbish, for this was the slum district.

A man came slowly down the street, clop, clop, clop,—. He was tall, wore a blue suit of clothes, a military hat, and rain gear over all. He was whistling a gay Irish tune. He walked to the far corner of the street, turned, and came back in the same eerie manner—clop, clop, clop,—.

All of a sudden a cat jumped from a garbage can, knocking it over and making a great deal of noise! However, the man was not shaken by this sudden change of atmosphere. He continued the walk to the corner on the other end of the street, stopped, listened, then turned and started back over the same route he was traveling when he first entered our story.

This procedure continued for an unseemingly long time. But hark, he has gone!! As soon as the sky began to lighten, he disappeared around the corner.

However, even though this procedure may startle you, be not troubled by it. The man is perfectly sane; he is merely doing his job. You see, this man is Officer O'Rielly of the Ninth Precinct Police Department doing his nightly beat.

A DREAM FULFILLED

A little girl of ten sat staring into space. She was very pretty. Her gold hair hung in ringlets around her small white face, Her eyes were China blue but they seemed dull somehow. Suddenly she got up and slowly, but assuredly, walked to a piano in the corner of the room. She sat down and began to play. She played as if by magic, staring straight ahead, never once looking at the keys. The music was beautiful and somehow dreamy.

Then the front door opened. "Brenda," a voice called, "Brenda, I'm home."

"Hello, mother, I'm practicing," she replied.

Mrs. Ashton stepped into the room. "How have you been today, dear?" she asked.

"Just fine, mother," Brenda answered. "Mother, do you suppose some day I can play well enough to give a concert at Carnegie Hall?"

"Of course, dear, but as Mr. Sheldon, your teacher, says, you must practice long and hard before you can do that and you must take failure as well as success."

"I'll try, mother. I'll try very hard and maybe someday my dream will come true."

Brenda practiced her piano lessons for many years. Finally Mr. Sheldon thought she was ready for her debut and through proper connections arranged for her concert. The date was set for April eighteenth. That day also happened to be Brenda's birthday—her twentieth.

Finally the big night arrived. Of course, Brenda was nervous. She was dressed that night in filmy white tulle, and her golden hair was arranged very attractively by her mother.

No one said a word as they left the house. When Brenda and Mrs. Ashton reached the hall, Mr. Sheldon met them and Brenda was taken to the stage.

When the curtain began lifting, the crowd was hushed and slowly, carefully she began to play. The rich tones of the piano filled the hall and the onlookers were astounded with the beauty of it. Her fingers were guided as if by God himself. For a half hour she played and each composition seemed more inspiring, more wonderful.

Finally the curtain rang down. For a moment all was silent, then the applause rang out. It thundered through the hall,

Seven times she played encores. On the last encore she arose from the piano bench to take her final bow. Then from the wings came a young man with an armful of roses. It was Stetson Carre, the great concert pianist. At first he startled Brenda until he told her who he was. He presented her the roses and then, taking her hand, helped her from the stage and the applause.

Blind Brenda Ashton had made her debut. Her dream had come true.

IT'S ALL IN A LIFETIME

It was a foggy, dreary day, which seemed much like any other day. But to me it was a special day because it was my first. When I was born, I had five brothers and sisters. However, I don't remember much about them because I was only a month old when I was taken away from my parents, and I have never returned.

A family, who knew my mother and father, took me to their home to bring me up, and since then I have always lived with them.

About the first thing that I can remember is that I was never able to do the right things at the right time. But as I was quite young, I guess that accounted for my poor behavior.

There were three children in the family who were all older than I. But they always invited me to share their fun. One thing I especially liked was when we went to their cabin in a nearby town. There I always spent my time hunting squirrels. I guess I wasn't very good at it as I never had any luck, but what I enjoyed was the trying.

From the first of my being with this family the youngest girl was my favorite friend, even though the others were wonderful to me also.

Her name is Rita and even though I am only her pet Airdale dog, she treats me as if I were a person!

FRESHMAN CLASS

The Freshman class consists of 34, young, active students. They entered Hartland Academy last September from Hartland and surrounding towns.

We occupy part of the Auditorium with Miss Plaisted as our home room teacher.

We had an election of officers soon after school opened and elected the following: President, Raymond Springer; Vice President, Jackie Cool; Secretary, Douglas Tibbetts; Treasurer, Juanita Taylor.

Most of the students are active in the various sports. Four girls, Maxine Nadeau, Marie Clement, Helen Vining and Jackie Cool were chosen to be on the cheerleading squad.

There are also participants in the clubs sponsored by the school.

Many of the boys and girls have had the opportunity to learn to dance and most of them have taken advantage of it.

Although they are mischievous and like to tease the teachers they are an average group of students.

ONE-ACT PLAY

This year, as last, each school in the league is presenting a one-act play. Judges select the best performed play and that school receives a trophy.

This year's selection is a comedy "Cleaned and Pressed". The cast of characters is as follows:

Edward Elton, a somewhat gangling youth	Webster Baird
Elizabeth Elton, a ten year old bundle of energy	Dolores Stedman
John Elton, a tall good-looking chap	Wayne Libby
Katy Sartori, a swarthy complexioned girl of 16	Patty Scribner
Marybelle Sturgis, a striking blonde of 17	Patricia Carson

Raymond Martin has been chosen manager. With the coaching of Miss Norwood and a lot of rehearsals the play should be a success. It is to be held March 31 here at the Academy.

The first meeting of the Student Council was called to order November 7, 1949 by Mr. Dummer, our faculty adviser. The following officers were elected: President, Vaughn Stedman; Vice President, Webster Baird, Secretary, Patricia Scribner; and Treasurer, Thirnwood Morgan.

It was voted to hold our meetings every other Monday at noon.

A committee was chosen, the first of the year, to tell the new students, and to refresh the memories of the rest of the students, on the traffic laws in the corridors. It didn't take long to get them going smoothly.

The problem of assemblies has been overcome somewhat this year. The schedule has not been entirely kept up but there seems to be more people with an interest in putting them on. The assemblies that have been presented, were very good. The Council's assembly was well received by the teachers and student body.

The Magazine Campaign was more satisfactory this year and we raised quite a bit more money than in the last few years. From the money we received, we were able to purchase new basketball uniforms for both girls and boys.

The Home Economics club of Hartland Academy, known as the Future Homemakers of America, started the year with thirty-seven members. After a roaring campaign battle, the following officers were elected:

President Joanne Jamieson
Vice President Ethelyn Wheeler
Secretary Beverly Neal
Treasurer Shirley Merrill
Reporter Joyce Pelkie
Parliamentarian Jacky Vining
Historian Dolores Stedman
Song Leader Glenice Martin

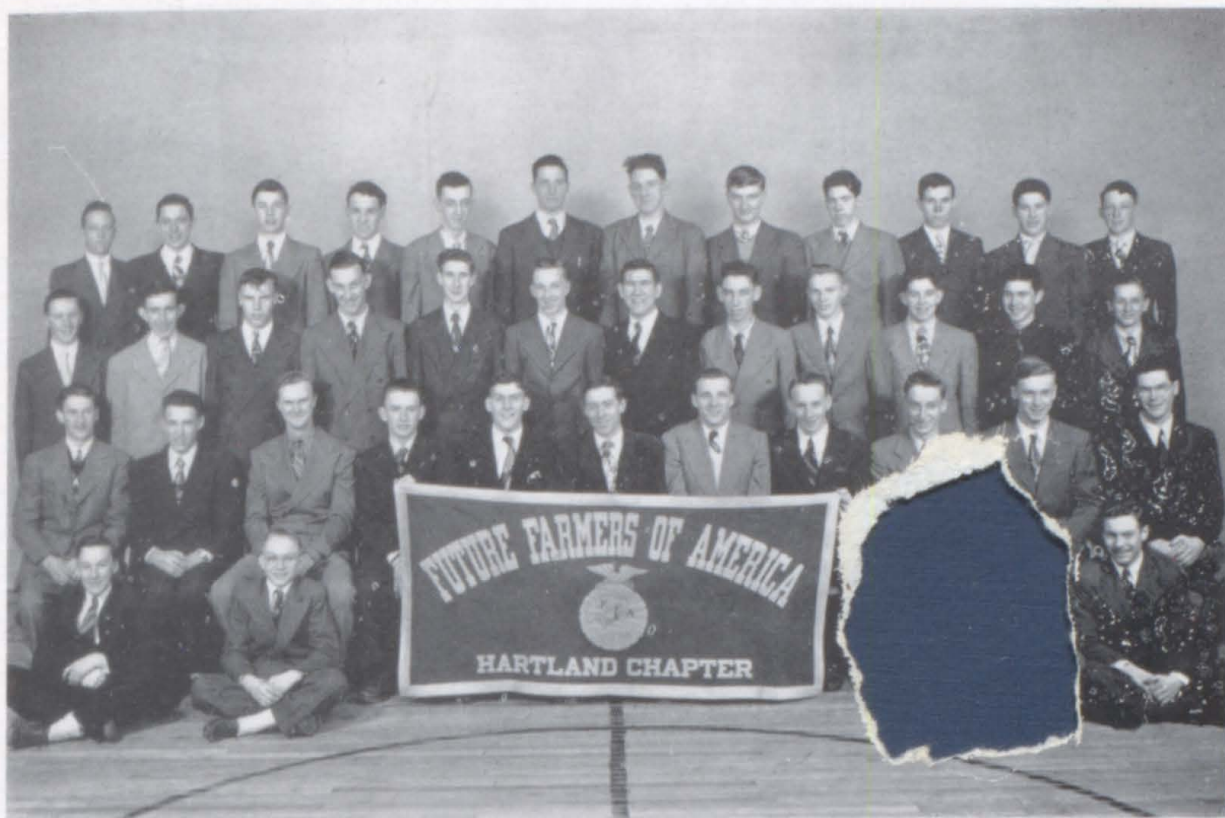

At the beginning of the year, the girls decided they would like to raise some money to have on hand in the treasury. The suggestion was made to have a food sale. This suggestion was carried out in November. We had the sale at the Library in Hartland where we had a wonderful array of pies, cakes, cookies, and doughnuts.

The first of December the girls gave Mrs. Phillips a surprise shower at which she received many lovely gifts.

A Mother-and-Daughter Banquet was held at the Home Economics building on March 22. The mothers were invited in order that they might understand the activities of the club and its goals. The program consisted of the describing of the emblem and the correct way to open and close a meeting. The girls that wanted to work for a Junior Homemaker degree also conferred their degree that night after the Banquet.

Our adviser is Mr. Boutilier.

During the summer the F.F.A. boys raised beans for the canning factory. These netted $228.00 for our treasury. We have also made and sold Christmas wreaths, center pieces and hatched baby chicks to add to the fund already in the treasury. With some of the money, we bought new uniforms for the F.F.A. basketball team.

The F.F.A. boys plan to hold a Father and Son banquet sometime in April. A definite date has not been set as yet.

We are striving to make our F.F.A. one of the leading groups in our district.

This year, the same as last, we have a librarian who is present at all times in the library. This keeps the library in order, and supplies the students with the necessary books and magazines. We have accomplished a lot, including the buying of new books and attaining strict order in the library. Another major achievement is that we keep a daily sheet to sign books out with and a careful check is kept in it.

We would appreciate students co-operation in observing all the rules of the library and in helping to keep its standards as high as possible. Our new members seem to be doing an excellent job and we hope to see them back another year.

The following students spend one period a day in the office: Joan Perry, David Huff, Shirley Merrill, Hartly Gardner, Patricia Carson, Natalie Clement, Evelyn Noble, Ida Mae Buker, Wynoma Parker, Beverly Neal, Marjorie Hart, Faye Cool, Barbara Whitten, and Opal Libby.

We wish to express our appreciation to Mrs. Dummer who has willingly taught us some of the duties of an office clerk.

BASEBALL

The 1949 baseball team had a very successful season. The team won nine of its ten league games and went into the Class M & S Tournament.

Boys making up the varsity squad were: Albert Stromback, Ivan Estes, Lloyd Cookson, Jr., Halver Stedman, Thirwood Morgan, Jr., James Jamieson, Kenneth Southard, Blaine Tibbetts, Robert Lucas, Raymond Martin, Daniel Snowman and Vaughn Stedman.

The team was coached by Jerre Hacker who, although having very little experience or schooling in the sport, volunteered to take over and keep us together.

Clive McGowan served as the acting manager.

Ivan Estes was acting field captain for the team.

The boys played a very good brand of ball and kept cool when the going was rough which showed up in the record of eleven wins and but two losses for the season's work. They were beaten only by Corinna in league competition and were stopped in tourney play by Lee Academy, after beating Milo and Unity respectively in previous elimination contests.

The league trophy was turned over to the school for display in the trophy case.

A banquet, sponsored by the Hartland Volunteer Fire Department, was put on for the team right after the last game in early June.

The record was as follows:

	Hart.	Vis.
Corinna	6	4	Hermon	13	3
Hermon	7	3	Carmel	10	1

SOFTBALL '49 AND '50

Spring came with its warm, sunshiny days, and was welcomed by the girls at H.A. Everyone had the spirit for throwing and batting a softball. When it came to go on trips to play games, transportation was usually quite difficult to get although we did succeed. These trips were all enjoyed, whether we won or lost. We were not successful in gaining the trophy but we feel by having that much practice we will be even more successful in this year's games. Only one of our players graduated and with the coaching of Mrs. Knight and supervision of our manager, Lorraine

Davis, we all look forward to the spring season.

Three cheers for the girls!!!! The girls we are cheering for are the Central Maine League Champs from Hartland Academy. Yes, this year they have done it again completed an undefeated season. This is the second consecutive year, 20 league wins in a row. Improvements in the rewards were made when the Hartland team twice defeated a fighting M. C. I. squad who just wouldn't say die. One non-league game was lost to North Anson.

Coach Plaisted with manager, Sally Lucas, and assistant manager, Shirley Merrill, started the month of November with sixteen girls out for practice, eight of these being veterans. By the time Round Robin took place they were well organized in a smooth working team and took over both games.

The girls scored 716 points to the opponents 532. High scorers were as follows:

Faye Cool	316
Ida Mae Buker	166
Glenice Martin	86
Ethelyn Wheeler	80

WINTER SPORTS

This year's winter sports team numbering 31 students, consisted of members from all classes.

The first meet which Hartland participated in was in Skowhegan January 21, with Skowhegan the victor winning it's own trophy.

Our second meet was held here. The teams competing were Skowhegan, Monson, Bingham, and Hartland. All the morning events took place across from the Academy. These events included both the boys' and girls' snowshoe and ski dashes, medleys, and the boys' cross country. H.A. easily walked away with the snowshoeing events in which Olin Salisbury, Jr. was high scorer again this year. The jumping, slalom, and down hill were held in the afternoon on St. Albans Mountain. Hartland was the winner with the score of 50 points. Skowhegan collected 35½, and Monson tallied 16. The Bingham girls won with 19 points; Hartland 14, and Skowhegan 12.

The highlight of the meet was the coronation ball held in the gym that evening. The student body selected Danny Snowman and Barbie Davis as king and queen. Other candidates for this honor were Jacquelyn Cool, Faye Cool, Delores Stedman, Olin Salisbury, Philip Gardner, and Raymond Martin. These candidates were marshalled by Joanne Jamieson. The Ball was under the supervision of the French Club, directed by Mrs. Helen Philips.

The gym was beautifully decorated with a false ceiling made of blue crepe paper from which gold stars were suspended. On one end of the gym, a temporary stage was constructed by the Agi boys upon which the thrones of the king and queen were set. The individual ribbons and the trophy were awarded by the royalties with the aid of Vaughn Stedman, president of the student council. On the other end of the gym were figurines of skaters drawn by Jimmy Jamieson. Colorfully lighted Christmas trees were in each corner of the gym.

The Ball was very successful due to the cooperation and help of all.

Hartland also competed in two other carnivals, one at Bingham, and one at Monson.

The winter sports was directed by Mr. Dummer and Franklin Morrison was our manager.

2nd. row: J. Vining, L. Davis, R. Bunker, Mrs. Knight, M. Nadeau, D. Stedman, P. Scribner.

CHEERLEADING

The cheerleading squad was organized this year with Mrs. Knight as our coach.

Ten girls were chosen by the student body. They were as follows: Barby Davis, Rita Bunker, Annette Haskell, Dolly Stedman, Jacky Vining, Patty Scribner, Helen Vining, Jackie Cool, Maxine Nadeau, and Marie Clement.

Instead of having J. V. and Varsity squads we voted to have two varsity squads and we would alternate on the games, both J. V. and Varsity games. The two teams were divided as follows: Dolly Stedman, (Head cheerleader), Jackie Cool, Maxine Nadeau, Marie Clement, and Patty Scribner; Barby Davis (Head cheerleader), Jacky Vining, Rita Bunker, Helen Vining, and Annette Haskell.

Material for the new uniforms was bought by the Athletic Association. At the Round Robin we sparkled in our jet black corduroy jumpers, white nylon blouses and black and white saddle shoes. The head cheerleaders had soft yellow corduroy jumpers. They were made by the Home Ec. girls.

During the season we held pie sales which were enjoyed by everyone. From the money we received we are going to have a banquet at the Lancey House.

We would like to thank the boys and girls for the fine support they gave us.

CROSS COUNTRY

The Cross Country team started this year with a fine group of runners. Our coach, Mr. Knight, did an excellent job of keeping the boys in condition and urging them on when the going got tough. Aided by our captain, Thirwood Morgan, we had a very successful season. Our manager, Harold Carson, was always on the spot and kept the team's uniforms in order.

The order and outcome of our meets were as follows:

JOKES

B. Whitten (eating soup in a restaurant): "Waiter, what's this in my soup?"

Waiter: "I'll have to call the cook, I don't know one insect from another."

J. Bizeau: "Why are you shivering? The weather's warm."

R. Martin: "I know, but it's zero on my paper."

D. Stedman: "Did you meet your son at the station?"

Mr. Jones: "Oh, gracious no, I've known him for years."

Mr. Knight (in Biology class): "What do elephants have that other animals don't have?"

G. Robinson: "Little elephants."

F. Morrison: "I've had this car for years and never had a wreck."

L. Hubbard: "You mean you've had this wreck for years and never had a car."

P. Scribner: "It's wonderful, but I had a deaf uncle who got arrested and the judge gave him his hearing the next morning."

N. Clement: "That's nothing, I once had a blind aunt who walked into a lumber yard and sawdust."

Mr. Dummer: "This whole class will stay for one hour after school tonight."

D. Hardwick: "Give me liberty or give me death."

Mr. Dummer: "Who said that?"

D. Hardwick: "Patrick Henry."

R. Hughes: "What runs across the floor without legs?"

F. Knowles: "I dunno."

F. Hughes: "Water, stupid."

Opal: "How old are you, Mr. Dummer?"

Mr. Dummer: "63."

Opal: "I don't believe it. My father's 62 and he looks a lot older than you—unless it's because he works harder."

R. Hall: "Do you think it's right to punish people for things they didn't do?"

Mrs. Phillips: "Why, of course not."

R. Hall: "Well, I didn't do my English."

At Senior Play:

Miss Amlaw: "All right, run up the curtain."

V. Stedman: "Say, what do you think I am—a mouse?"

H. Gardner: "I bet you can't name a place I haven't been."

O. Salisbury: "St. Albans."

H. Gardner: "That's not a place—that's a disease!"

Mr. Knight (in Physics class): "What's the greatest water power known to man?"

W. Green: "OK, that's easy, women's tears."

Mr. Dummer (after a long Algebra problem): "And so, we find that x equals zero."

F. Morrison: "All that work for nothing."

N. Clement: "You used to say I was all the world to you?"

R. Martin: "Yes, but I've learned a lot about geography since then."

Mrs. Phillips: "Give me a sentence using 'fascinate'."

D. Robinson (after deep thought): "I have a coat with ten buttons but I can only fasten eight."

P. Carson: "I'm just a tiny pebble in you."

T. Morgan: "I do wish you were a little boulder."

Mrs. Phillips: "I have went. That's wrong, isn't it?"

Bob Lucas: "Yes, ma'am."

Teacher: "Why is it wrong?"

Bob: "'Cause you ain't went yet."

Harold C.: "That's a funny pair of socks your wearing, Wayne, one of them is green and one's red."

Wayne L.: "Yes, and strangely enough, I have another pair at home just like them."

Ray. Martin (in barber shop): "How long do I have to wait for a shave?"

Barber (after a close look): "About six months or a year."

Mr. Knight (in Biology Class): "What is man's most harmful pest?"

James Jamieson: "Women."

Girls faults are many
But boys have only two,
Everything they say
And everything they do.

Notice Posted in Physics Lab recently by Mr. Knight:

"This is a LABORatory
NOT
A labORATORY!"

Mrs. Dummer: "Dick went hunting last night and got three partridges."

B. Neal: "Who went with him?"

R. Bunker: "What's black when you buy it, red, when you use it, and gray when you throw it away?"

C. Davis: "I dunno."

R. Bunker: "Coal."

T. Taylor: "How did you break your leg?"

V. Philbrick: "Do you see those steps?"

T. Taylor: "Yes."

V. Philbrick: "Well, I didn't."

Ted Stromback and T. Morgan were discussing Teddy's new story:

Morgan: "Why did you have the knight killed in your story?"

T. Stromback: "Oh, I wanted his woman."

Miss Plaisted: "What type of occupation could a person who stutters secure?"

B. Tibbetts: "He could be a tobacco auctioneer for 'Lucky Strike.'"

Mrs. Knight: "Grace, how do you make an apple turnover?"

G. Sinclair: "Give it a push."

P. Gardner: "Does your girl eat gun powder?"

O. Salisbury: "No, why?"

P. Gardner: "I noticed her hair was coming out in 'bangs'!"

R. Chute (to B. Nichols' father): "May I have your daughter's hand in marriage?"

B. Nichols' father: "No, she probably wants it herself."

J. Vining: "What's the idea of wearing my raincoat?"

H. Vining: "You wouldn't want me to get your new dress wet, would you?"

Mr. Knight: "What's the formula for water?"

M. Stilson: "H. I. J. K. L. M. N. O."

Mr. Knight: "Why all the letters?"

M. Stilson: "I heard you say yesterday it was H to O."

Miss Norwood: "Define trickle."

J. Jamieson: "To run slowly."

Miss Norwood: "Define anecdote."

J. Jamieson: "A short, funny tale."

Miss Norwood: "Use both words in a sentence."

J. Jamieson: "The dog trickled down the street with a can tied to his anecdote."

Dolores Stedman: "Last week when that bear got out you ran away, and left me, and you had just told me you would face death for me."

Philip Gardner: "Yes, I would, but that bear wasn't dead."

In Chemistry Class:

Mr. Knight: "What is HNO₃?"

Morgan: "Er—uh—um—er—I've got it right on the tip of my tongue."

Mr. Knight: "Well, spit it out—it's nitric acid."

LIGHTS!

There's magic in lights . . . add a light here, place a spotlight there, and your portrait takes on the appearance of real form and individuality.

Your Vantine photographer knows how lighting effects can be best used . . . How easily they can reflect your personality.

Your Vantine photographer knows best how to secure the sharply etched photographs your engraver desires of the important senior year . . . The victories of the athletic teams. . . The brilliance of social occasions . . . The Prom . . . The plays . . . The debates The expressions of everyday life on the campus.

That personalized portraits by Vantine are important is attested to by the fact that over 300 schools and colleges repeatedly entrust their photographic work to Vantine.
