To the Underclassmen:

We have learned a lot these past years at Hartland Academy, and to you, the underclassmen, we would like to offer a few words of wisdom.

Each and everyone of you has at least one year of schooling left. Make the most of what time you do have by striving to gain all the knowledge you can possibly attain. Education is the foundation of success, and in order to build your foundation, you need to use your ability. You might find the task of learning very tedious, but after you have succeeded, you will find that it has been well worthwhile. Education will make you a better person, and will give you a chance to help build a better future society.

Next year you will be entering a new school. When you do, you will have to establish a new school spirit, and will also have to learn to get along with others. This will take courage on the part of all. If you are to make Nakomis your school, remember that you will be a part of that school, and give Nakomis your loyalty. Let the spirit of H. A. rest in your minds and in your hearts. Strive to make Nakomis a fun place to learn in, and allow yourselves to give way to a new school spirit; a spirit which can live in the hearts of every student there. Make this school a place of unitedness. Join with the other students to form a successful and rewarding school.

As you enter Nakomis Regional High School, our thoughts and best wishes go with you. Remember, education is the "Foundation of Success".

LITERATURE

TO H. A.

In the many years that H. A. has lived, she has brought much joy and pleasure into our hearts. Her children have learned to admire her efforts to educate them. The teachers who have taught here, will never forget the Old Gal, admiring her as they taught their classes day after day. She's struggled through a lot H. A. has; yet, next year, everyone will leave her for Nakomis. But will we forget her? How could we—we, the students of H. A., who have been educated—taught the reasons for living, learning, and dying here. No, we will never forget her, she means too much to us.

To H. A. we sing from our hearts:

|-------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| Oh, here's to dear old H. A. | Academy's bright records |
| The noblest school of all. | Will ne'er by us be marred. |
| Beneath her flying colors | Academy's athletics, |
| We'll answer to her call. | Her standards here are far. |
| It matters not the hardships, | For we are all behind her, |
| The study or the work. | Supporting one and all, |
| Not one of H. A.'s students | And our boast is forever, |
| Will ever quit or shirk. | Old H. A. shall not fall. |

We salute thee, H. A.!

WELCOME LITTLE ONE

Welcome to the human race, little one
Your long journey has just begun.
The day will come when you will be
An important member of society.

But, for now, you must grow,
And soon it's off to school you'll go
Upon completion you must try
To get a job and become a working guy.

Perhaps by then you'll have a wife
To keep you company the rest of your life.
And then you'll awaken some sunny morn
To discover the birth of your own newborn.

Frank Bryant '68

THE LIGHT

What light has thou seen,
That of today or of tomorrow!
I know not what it may mean.
A sign of happiness or of sorrow.

The answer lies with one above
No need to wonder anymore.
Tis from him who send his love,
Tis the light of guidance from heaven's door.

Janice Grant '69

WAR, HOPE FOR PEACE

Why must we always,
Fight and kill
Why must we go against
Each other's will
Patience in man
Was long ago lost
"Things must go my way
But you pay the cost"
This isn't right
I realize it's wrong.
But how do you stop
Something so strong?
People act strangely
So hateful and mean.
But what can I do.
To make my point seen?
It seems that we're destined
To be as we are;
No matter how sharp
Or deep goes the scar.
I wonder, I wonder,
What life we will find,
When out of this world
Goes man's wondering mind.
Perhaps we'll find peace;
But what does peace mean?
Perhaps we'll find happiness
That's yet to be seen
I hope we find something,
Just what it will be
Is something to hope for
At least for me.

A WINTER MORNING

The snow is gently falling; the air seems fresh and bright. The ground is blanketed with the snow that fell through the long night. The morning is still and beautiful, untouched yet by the world around. It's so calm as the morning light from the horizon filters through the purity of the morning snow floating gently down to earth.

How beautiful; how sad it must be disturbed by mankind.

Florence Curtis '68

PROUD OLD LADY

Farewell old H. A. I will be going soon and I will miss the four old walls which held me in the secure grasp of your loving and understanding spirit. You may have seemed hard and sometimes frightening to me in my first two years, but as I got older I realized that you were preparing me for my life in the real world around me. In your four walls I have grown up, not so much into manhood but more into my ability to cope with the problems you have put before me.

I know that you shall no longer be a high school, but I also know that you will still have the sound of voices ringing in your halls. Not only the voices of the junior-high students will be here next year, but also the voices of the people who have had the good fortune to be your students. I will never forget you for you will always be in my mind and my heart. So I say farewell and in my heart you will always be a

Phil Melanson '68

LIFE

Life goes on—
in spite of many things.
From war to poverty and sin.
And often hardships that it brings
Can wear you kind of thin.

Frank Bryant '68

"THE STORM"

A leaf falls from a tree,
As the wind goes flying by.
A beam of light does bring
Happiness to the sky.

A dark grey cloud comes near,
Covering over the sun,
A feeling of fright arises,
For a storm has just begun.

As branches fly in the wind
And the rain darkly falls,
The children cry in fear
As thunder loudly calls.

The clouds move slowly on;
The sun gives back its light.
The world once more is gay,
For the sky is bright.

Peggy Morgan '68

LOVE

I weep because I loved them
I cry because I lost when
They left me for Him!
I lost a friend, I lost a love
Because they went to happiness with those above.

Earth is a hell, we make it that way
But who knows any better, no one can say.
For we are only human!
He knows the way, but we've yet to learn
It's up to us so forever we'll yearn.

Is it because we're not capable?
Is it true that we're really not able
To obtain love and peace?
Yes! It's true! It's a fact,
That we're not all able to get in the act.

What is the act you say? It's love!
God has made it so for those above
He knows what love is Someday we will too, when he so chooses, and the ones left below will truly be the losers.
