HARTLAND COUPLE CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

HARRISON RANDLETT

MRS. HARRISON RANDLETT

Hartland, Me., Dec. 27.—One of the most notable events to occur in Hartland for a long time was celebrated here Christmas eve in Grange hall when Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Randlett, prominent residents of the community, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Invitations numbering about 100 were issued and the hours were spent socially, a large number of people offering felicitations and well wishes. Nuptial refreshments were served and the affair in all details passed off as merrily as a wedding bell.

Much of the early history of Hartland centers around the ancestry of Mrs. Randlett as her grandfather, James Fuller, born in 1787, died in 1845, was the first permanent settler of the town. He came from Exeter, N. H., probably earlier than 1802 and for years ran the tavern at Fuller's Corner on the old county road from Norridgewock to Bangor. This hostelry, let it be mentioned, had the reputation of being one of the few prohibition public houses in Maine at that time. When Mr. Fuller came the region was an utter wilderness with very few inhabitants for many miles and it is related that when he was clearing his land he was obliged to go nearly 10 miles to get his axe ground. This first settler was twice married, his two wives being sisters. The first was Rebecca Lancey who died in 1823 and the second was Elizabeth Lancey. The second child of the first union was Thomas, born in 1816 and he married Laura Butterfield, who was also born in the same year, the daughter of John Butterfield, another early settler of the town. This couple became the parents of two daughters, Ellen and Lizzie and the elder of these children became the wife of Harrison Randlett.

Mr. Randlett is a native of Solon, being the son of Mr. and Mrs. Greenleaf Randlett, nee Haley. He is 75 years old and is in excellent health and has long been rated as one of the wealthy men of the community. For a time after their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Randlett resided on a farm in the Huff Hill neighborhood and then moved to a farm on the edge of Pittsfield, where they made their home for a long term of years. Mrs. Randlett's parents in the meantime were living on the farm near the old tavern, the latter building having long ago been torn down and after the death of their younger daughter, Lizzie, Mr. and Mrs. Randlett moved to the Fuller homestead and cared for the aged people in their last days. The Randlett farm is now owned and occupied by a New York man and several years ago Mr. and Mrs. Randlett decided to retire from the activities which had so marked their earlier career and disposing of the Fuller property which they had subsequently inherited, moved to an attractive modern dwelling on Elm St., Hartland village. Here they have resided alone and will doubtless continue to do so another spring, but for the winter they are making their headquarters at the Park House, the leading hotel of the town.

The couple have had six children, one daughter died when young, but otherwise their family are living. The eldest son, Carl, is a prominent merchant in Hartland village; Belle, the eldest daughter, married Fred L. Morse and lives in Palmyra; Thomas is engaged in the ice business in Hartland; Harry is manager of the Park House and also has a large hardware store in Hartland, and Mrs. Effie Laura Pichen, the youngest daughter, is a school teacher, making her home with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Randlett have eight grandchildren.
